School Board Promotes Successful Referendum

The school board has undergone a series of changes, including the election of four new board members and the hiring of a new superintendent. Mr. William Hill assumed his duties in August as the superintendent of Community Unit School District No. 1. Under his leadership the members have established fixed goals, the most important of these being that of getting the system back on its feet financially and reinstating the programs cut from the curriculum at all levels. The board is enthusiastic and looking toward a brighter future for our schools. The first step has been taken. On December 6, 1977 a school tax referendum was passed by the voters. The board is now tackling a needs assessment program, which hopefully will upgrade the present programs that have been cut back because of financial crises.

Principal Heads Up All-Star Cast

Mr. C. Michael David is completing his third year as principal of Charleston High School. In reflecting on his years here, he firmly believes that working together to solve the financial difficulties brought out the best in people. He feels that since one is only in high school once in his lifetime, he should make it as fulfilling as he can. Therefore, his primary goal for this year is to provide the best education and extra curricular activities possible under the circumstances. He has proven, through his steady and quiet leadership, that one can be in a directing position and still be close to the cast. Mr. David has performed with the finesse and humor necessary to carry off a successful production.

Mr. Fleming Promotes Student Services

In addition to his many administrative duties, Mr. Fleming has helped to institute several services for students. With the cooperation of the guidance department, he is directing an employment service in which they match interested students with available jobs in the community. He has also coordinated tutoring programs with EIU and Lakeland students and CHS students. His main interest is developing all types of services for the benefit of the students.

Students Receive Career Guidance

The Charleston High School Guidance counselors play an important role in our school's daily activities. They have been working extra hard this year since there are only two advisors to share the work load.

A full time secretary has been added to the department to assist Mrs. Crane and Mr. Hankins in their work.

The counselors started out the school year by working out student scheduling and class sizes. Throughout the year, they have been involved with student scholarships and testing, helping seniors plan their future education, placing Eastern students in tutoring positions, and aiding students in finding work through the new job-placement program. They are always willing to help students with academic or personal problems. Counselors are truly an important part of our school lives.

Library Changes Scenery

The CHS media center plays a vital role in the workings of this school. It is the source of all research done by students ranging from definitions to semester term papers. The library provides a variety of reference materials, such as periodicals, encyclopedias, books, filmstrips, and records. Joining the staff in the lead role as head librarian is Mrs. Chaney.

- a. Lisa Sanders and Kristie Rankin take a break.
- b. Dan Corrie and Marty Mizner use class to work in the library.

Secretaries Maintain Box Office

The Charleston High School office staff has had a busy schedule this year, but then, every year is a busy year for a high school secretary.

Charleston High School has four secretaries.

Mrs. Reddick takes care of the attendance every morning, and she is the personal secretary for Mr. Fleming. The office bookkeeper is Mrs. Nickles, who also watches over the telephone. Mrs. Rennels keeps the workroom running smoothly and is the athletic secretary. Mrs. Wilson is Mr. David's secretary with all of the duties which accompany his office.

These four secretaries are what keep the high school office running smoothly. They are an indispensable part of our school system.

Custodians Polish Their Act

Paul Barris

Cleo Mathews

Gary Wright, Mary Pollard, Bill Lacy

No production would be complete without its stage crew. The custodians spend scores of hours cleaning and repairing all items in the school. They are cheerfully willing to put forth a special effort to assist any clubs in their activities. Without our untiring janitors, this school could not run nearly as smoothly or as safely as it does.

English Emphasizes Fine Points of Literature

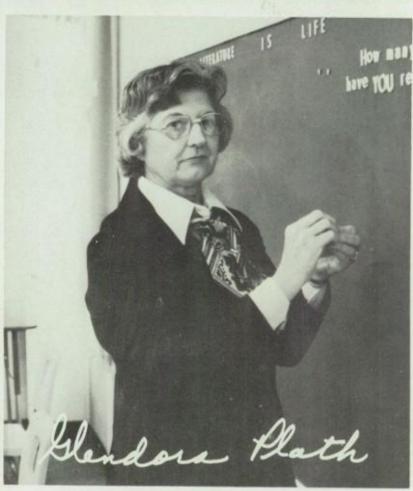

The English department at CHS features a vast assortment of programs in communications, literature, and grammar. In addition to this, a new course is offered this year in Twentieth-Century Drama. The students examine the finer points of theatre, such as the art of lighting, scenery design and construction, and direction.

Classes offered again this year include: Speech I and II, Communication Skills, Literature, Literature and Composition, American Short Stories and Novels, Writing and Research, Mass Media, Advanced Rhetoric, and Twentieth-Century Fiction. Also included are Multi-Ethnic Literature, which is the study of literature written by and about different ethnic groups, and Creative Writing, which features units in movie making and children's literature.

Social Studies Opens Curtain on Past

The concentration on specific units in the social studies department had to be sacrificed because of curricular cutbacks. Presently, the American history courses cover the period of years from the Revolutionary War up to the current affairs. Students are required to take American History in their junior years. They also must take a consumer education course as seniors. Among the elective classes offered here at CHS are World History, Sociology I and II, Social Studies, and Insights in Democracy. The purpose of these courses is to develop the students' awareness of their past and to guide them in their search for improvement of the future.

- d. American History students listen attentively.
- e. Sam McElwee, Allison Lazenby, and Jeff Phillips study in civics class.

  f. Mr. Beusch advises seniors on the pitfalls of advertising.

Math... A Play With Numbers

The most objective courses offered at CHS are the math classes. These are needed especially in these times, when electronics and computers are used widely in many fields. The classes range from freshman Algebra I to precalculus. Our teachers are veterans to this stage, and they perform their parts well. The technical aspects of mathematics will puzzle man always, but the teachers here at CHS do an excellent job of helping students understand the concepts.

a. Students get help after school.
b. Robin Koch works on her assignment.
c. Steve Hockman receives help on homework.

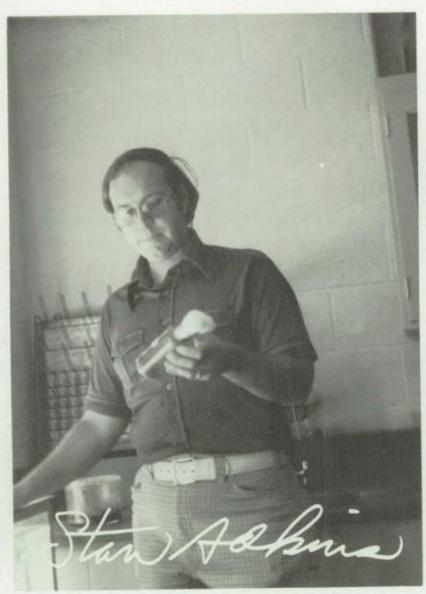

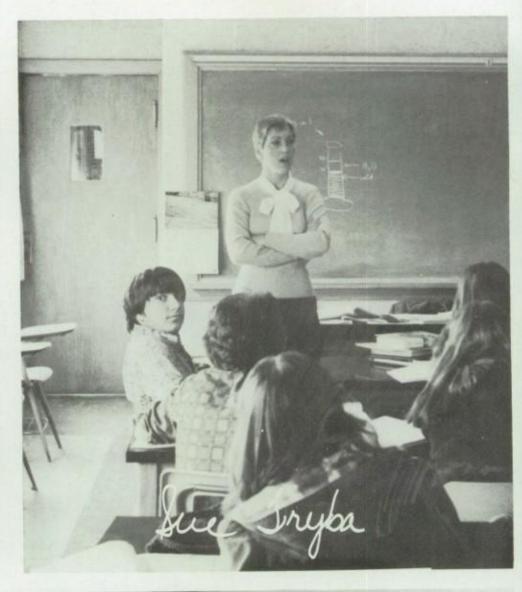

C.

Science Explores Basics

The Science Department gives students a chance to examine closely the animals, plants, and organisms in the world around them. All Charleston High School students must take one year of science to graduate. Most of them take a year of Biology I or General Science. Biology I deals with genetics, reproduction, the cell, and various other aspects of life. General Science emphasizes lab work rather than studying from a textbook, and provides a chance for the student who would normally have trouble with Biology I to be successful in science.

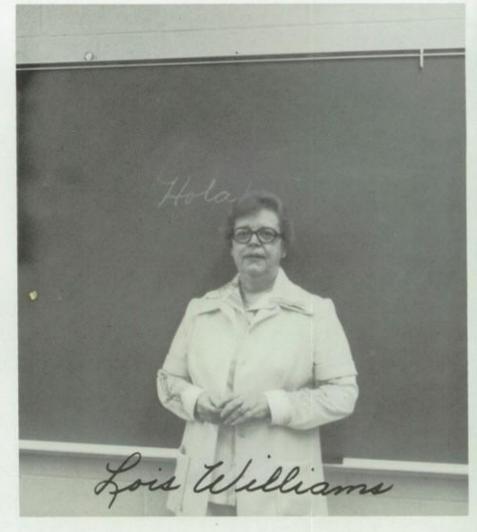

After a year of required study, students may elect to take another course in science. Biology II, chemistry, physics, environnment and ecology, and astronomy are all elective science courses. All of these courses combined provide a well-rounded science department for the students of Charleston High School.

Foreign Language Opens International Scene

The foreign language department presently has three different languages and probably will only have two next year. The languages taught are Spanish I, II, III, and IV; Latin I and II and French. Mrs. Webb is the new French teacher. Mrs. Connelly teaches Spanish II, III, and IV while Miss Williams handles Spanish I and Latin I and II. In addition to learning a new language the students gain an insight into the culture of each country.

Art Provides Scenery for CHS

Art is one of the most popular subjects at Charleston High School. One hundred and forty students were taken out of the enrollment for art this year, and there are no freshmen taking art because of the crowded classes.

The Art Department offers students a chance to express their creativity in many different ways. Art I teaches students about color and all phases of design. Students learn to appreciate art in painting, sculpture, and architecture. Many different mediums are available to the students for experimentation.

Music Sets Mood at CHS

Home Ec Emphasizes Consumer Awareness

Home Economics provides students with the opportunity to learn valuable experiences in caring for children, food management, and clothing construction. Pupils learn the tricks of stretching a dollar to fit a family's needs, among other critical lessons. No matter what the course, it helps develop one for the role of consumer or homemaker.

- a. Lori Morris enjoys a sandwich and a bowl of chili.
- b. Diane Stumpf munches a carrot stick.
- c. Cindy Andrews checks her biscuits.
- d. The CHS soupline.

Students Rehearse

Fletilla Lane

The business department has added no new courses to its programs this year. Included in the curriculum are classes in typing, shorthand, accounting, and recordkeeping. Joining the cast of last year's production of business are Mrs. Allen, who teaches Typing I, and Mrs. Grant, who teaches Basic Business. Both are familiar faces around CHS but are debuting in the business department this year.

Office Skills

- a. Steve Hsu and Rick Marquis concentrate on a timed writing assignment.
  b. Wendy Schapiro prepares to type.
  c. Darrell Bough accepts advice from Mrs.

- d. Accounting students wait for their next assignment.

Industrial Arts Puts It All Together

Industrial arts provides students with the chance to gain valuable experience working with some of the tools of an industrial society. The various materials and equipment that are available to the pupil to provide him with a background that can be very beneficial in future work years. Industrial arts lets students satisfy their creative tendencies and leaves them with a sense of accomplishment. It is indeed an important part of our school curriculum.

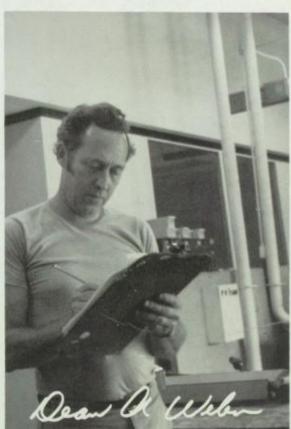

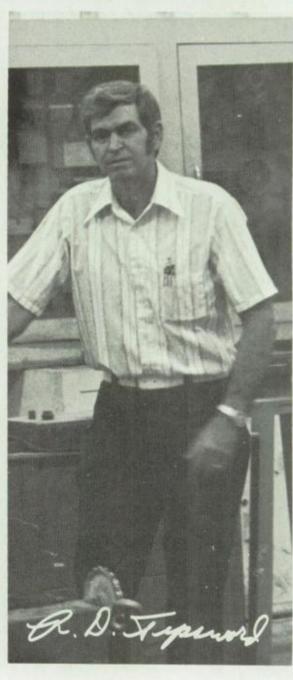

- a. Jim Roberts takes a break from the routine.b. The man in the iron mask.c. Mr. Tipsword aids Jimmy Winnett in a d. Mike Taylor saws diligently.

Co-op Offers Practical Job Training

The Charleston High School Co-op work program offers students the experience of on-the-job training in many types of work. It is a unique study program which allows students to participate in classroom work for half of the school day and go to work for the remainder of the day. The students hold jobs that fit each of their various interests and abilities. Mrs. Louthan, Mr. Easter, and Mrs. Kubicek advise the working students in jobs pertaining to business, industrial work and home economics. The work program is limited to juniors and seniors.

- Mrs. Kubicek, Mr. Easter and Mrs. Louthan advise the working students about jobs that might interest them.
- c. Kevin Storm frames artwork.
- d. David W. Hackett organizes produce.
- e. Scott Clayton service with a smile.

Drivers Education, Health 'Open the Act' on Understanding

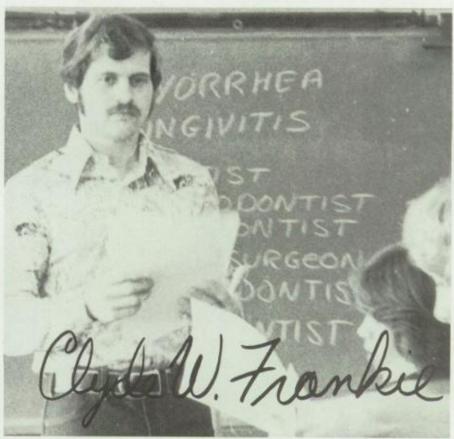

Both Health and Driver's Education are important parts of our school curriculum. They provide students with muchneeded information about two very important parts of our lives.

Health covers material which helps students develop a better understanding of the many physical and social aspects of their lives.

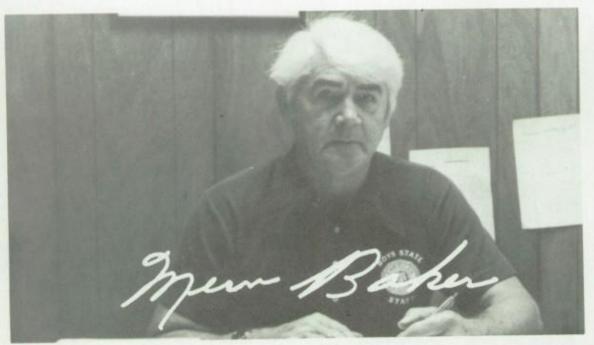

The Driver's Education program at Charleston High School is dedicated to educating student drivers in all phases of traffic safety. In this class, students are tested in classroom study, in their work with simulators, and in their skill behind the wheel of a car. Driver's Education is part of a student's sophomore year of study.

Physical Education

Participating in Physical Education is a welcome change from the ordinary classroom procedure. It gives students a chance to stretch their legs. Younger classes are taught basic skills and activities that will benefit them in later years at Charleston High School. Juniors participate in a few co-ed units and continue to learn skills and good sportsmanship. The Senior student is given the chance to select certain activities for class that he or she finds particularly enjoyable.

The Charleston High School coaches and physical education teachers do a fine job of directing our students in social and competitive activities. The things they teach will continue to benefit us throughout the future.

Shapes Up Student Body

Special Education Generates Improvement

The individualized instruction is in its second year at CHS. It gives some students a chance to add to classroom education. A few of the pupils take part in a Cooperative Work Program which teaches them to use resources such as employment agencies and newspapers to find jobs. When a person gets a job, he is expected to fulfill all the demands of that job and still meet the requirements of his school work. The instructors, Miss Hogue and Mrs. Hanfland, help students set personal goals and guide them in their striving to accomplish those ideals. Mr. Christman is in charge of the CWT program.

Mrs. Nickles — We Love You!

After nearly 27 years as the bookkeeper at Charleston High School, Mrs. Anna Nickles retired December 1, 1977. She has been working in the office of CHS through five principals, hundreds of teachers, and literally thousands of students.

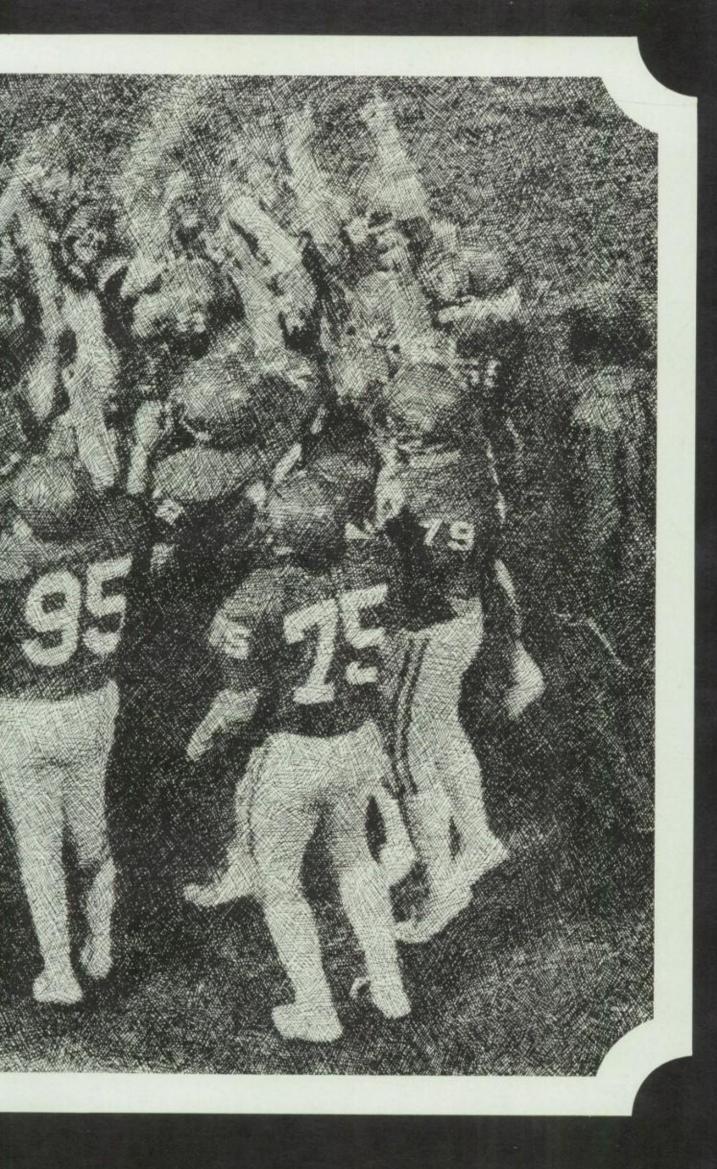

Although her most recent duties center on handling the money and making the checkbook balance, she also helped decipher parental notes and draw up the daily absence lists.

What most of the students who have passed through the doors of the office since 1950 remember most about Mrs. Nickles is her kindness and sense of humor. Many students have not forgotten how she lessened their fears of a principal's punishment with her friendliness and laughter.

Mrs. Nickles has been an important and beloved part of CHS for many years, and all are sorry to see her go. For most of us, walking into the office will not be the same without her to greet us.

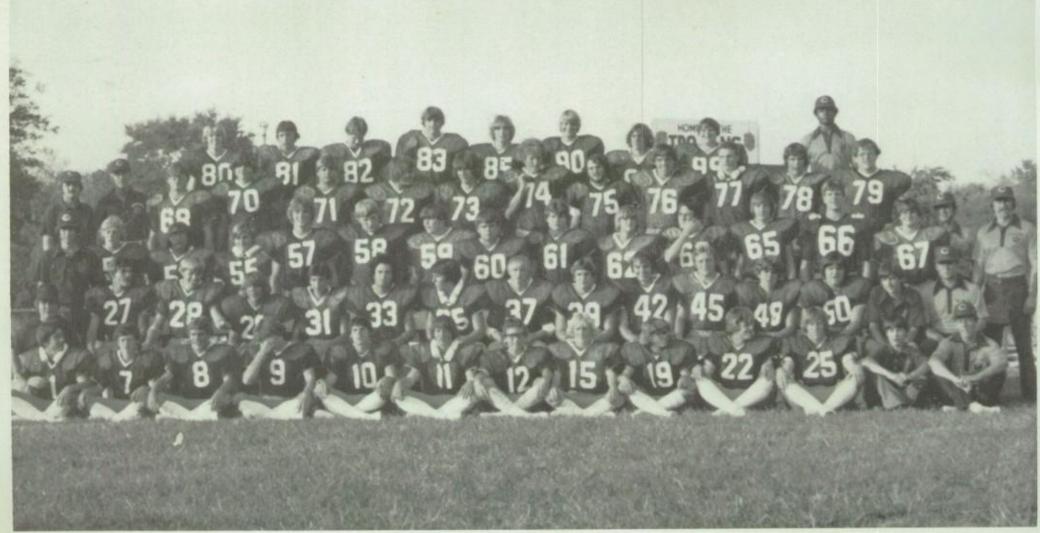

CREBS

TROJANS TAKE CARE OF

This year's varsity football team had a spectacular season. Led by Coaches Chuck Budde and Bill Monken and an imposing lineup of seniors, the Trojans ended the season with an impressive 10-1 record. They were undefeated in regular season play, bowing to Metamora in the state semi-final game. They also took the Apollo title for the second straight year. These honors are especially overwhelming since the team was not supposed to be in existence this year. Athletics were eliminated from the budget, but the hard-working boosters raised enough money to reinstate them. The Trojans, supported by a host of loyal fans, certainly lived up to their slogan 'Takin' Care of Business.'

Cross Country Runs Off With Apollo Title

The 1977 Cross Country team continued to build their running strength last season. Although they had a 1-8 record, many of the contests were lost by only a few points, and the Trojans captured the Apollo Conference title for the sixth straight year. The team also finished third in District competition. The Charleston High School Cross Country team is slowly building up to "Number 1."

Frosh-Soph. Teams Gain Experience

The Frosh-Soph. basketball team has compiled an impressive record of 11 wins and only 3 losses at press time. Coach Matt Yarcho's squad pulled away after losing the first two games of the season to win six straight. The team is much improved and will send many experienced ball handlers to future CHS varsity teams.

Girls Basketball Team Regional Champions

The CHS girls' basketball team, in only its second year, captured the Regional Championship and played outstanding ball in regular season play. CHS downed Broadlands 59-36 in the semifinal game of regional play and took the championship with a 36-32 win against Paris. The girls then advanced to the sectional tournament and defeated Altamont 44-39 in the semi-final contest. The championship game went to arch-rival Mattoon in a 36-67 loss for CHS. Kathy Taitt set a new school record for individual scoring with 45 points in one game. Fran Teller was chosen by the Decatur Herald as one of the area's ten best ball players. #### Trojans Run to Victory

The Charleston High School Track team finished their 1977 spring season with a dual meet record of 4-1. They finished 2-0 in triangular meets, and then rounded out the season by winning the Apollo Conference title. The Trojans finished fourth in District competition. The team also did well in invitational track contests. They finished first in the Olney Invitational, second in the Mattoon Invitational and third in the Twin City Invitational.

The Frosh-Soph team fared equally as well in their season. They took first place honors in the Newton Freshman Relays and the Apollo Freshman-Sophomore contest.

All in all, the 1977 Track team had another successful track season.

Baseball Team Shows Determination

The 1977 baseball team proved that they had the determination and spirit to be a winning team. Many team members had fine performances in games last year, and there was a lot of potential talent among the players who will return for the 1978 baseball season. The baseball team is one of the many teams at Charleston High School that upholds the Trojan tradition of winning.

Girls Capture Apollo Crown

In the second year of existence, the girls' volleyball team won the first Apollo Invitational Tournament, defeating Mt. Zion for the crown. They journeyed to District, losing to Taylorville in the first round. The A Team, under coach Dottye Hogue, finished the season with a record of 12 wins, 6 losses. The B Team had a .500 season with a 7-7 record.

Yearbook Gives Star Performance

The 1977-78 Recorder staff has been exerting itself emphatically to produce a fine quality yearbook this year. Although the staff is young, each person gives more than his share in order to create a lasting memory for the students. Under the guidance of Mrs. Childress as advisor and Mary Anne Rearden as editor, the group meets two nights a week and spends many hours working on the Recorder. Other section heads are: Pam Stites, Business Manager; Laura Smith, head of copy; Abi Grado, head of layout; and Jana Grado, head of final pages.

In order to keep the student price for the yearbook at $9.00, staff members sold popcorn and peanuts at ball games, and sold ads to Charleston merchants.

Student Council Sets Goals

OFFICERS: Treasurer Ellen Grant, Vice President Eve Goodrick, President Sheila Oakly, Corresponding Secretary Beth Palmer, Secretary Colleen Lenihan.

The Student Council has re-evaluated its past activities and has set new goals in order to make this the most productive year for CHS. In addition to planning the dances and special Homecoming activities, the Council has rejuvenated the former study hall into a student lounge. It has plans to study a recommendation to lengthen the lunch hours and shorten the school day, and hopes to look into the present point system. Under the guidance of sponsors Mr. David and Mrs. Hanfland, the 1977-78 Student Council is well on its way to serving the high school community better than ever before.

Another successful year has gone by for the National Honor Society. Members have been busy with activities such as the annual Christmas Tea, honoring all students who made the honor roll in the first quarter of school.

Students are selected for membership on the basis of their classroom scholarship. They are then rated by the faculty on their character, leadership, and service. Juniors are inducted into the society in the spring for membership in their Senior year. The club is sponsored by Mrs. Plath and Mrs. Ballsrud.

Students Challenged by Math Script

The Math Club promotes many extra-curricular math activities for the students of Charleston High School. Members of this club are students who have expressed an interest in mathematics outside of their regular math classes. Members participate each year in the Rose-Hulman St. Mary of the Woods Math Contest and the Annual High School Mathematics Exam. The club is sponsored by Mrs. Dodson and Mrs. Boroughs.

C-Club Is Fraternal Organization

The C-Club is organized as a service group supporting athletics. The present club, however, is primarily a community serving, self-supporting organization. Some of their enterprises include odd jobs and civic projects. The money from these is used to help fund the athletic programs, with a little set aside for an annual camping trip.

Any male earning a letter in any sport is eligible for membership in the club. The head sponsor is Coach Budde, with assistance from the other coaches.

Trojets Provide Choreography

The 1977-78 Trojets added sparkle and excitement to the pregame and half-time activities. This talented group of young ladies performed fast-paced routines to popular music for the enjoyment of the home crowds. They also marched in several parades with the band, and this year helped Santa Claus during his stay in Charleston.

The Trojets have had several fundraising activities, including bake sales and car washes. The proceeds from these go to replenishing their supply of outfits and pom-poms.

Intramurals Open Athletics for All

Intramurals at CHS have been expanded to give any students the chance to participate in a wider variety of sports. Basketball and swimming are open to all, with girls' teams in volleyball and tennis also. The teams meet once or twice a week for competition. At the end of the program, awards are given to the winning teams. Intramurals are sponsored by Mr. Beusch and Mrs. McFarland.

PAC Brings Culture Back to CHS

A fresh addition to the after-school activities this year is the Performing Arts Club, sponsored by Mrs. Jeanne Jones. The purpose of the club is to provide the many students who are gifted in theatre arts and music a chance to perform in a chorus and on stage. The club has raised its own money through paper drives, taffy apple sales, and private donations. The chorus has made a few public appearances, including participating in the annual Christmas concert. The big project scheduled for this year is a spring musical which hopefully will generate more interest in theatre here at CHS.

Speech Team Are Veterans to the Stage

The CHS Speech Team is made up of students who are interested in all forms of public speaking or acting. The team attends speech contests with a number of other schools from an extensive radius. These meets are designed to give students the opportunity to perform before an audience and to be critiqued by experienced judges. There are a variety of events in which a person may enter according to his individual style and talents. The participants are exposed to all types of material, from literary classics to current events.

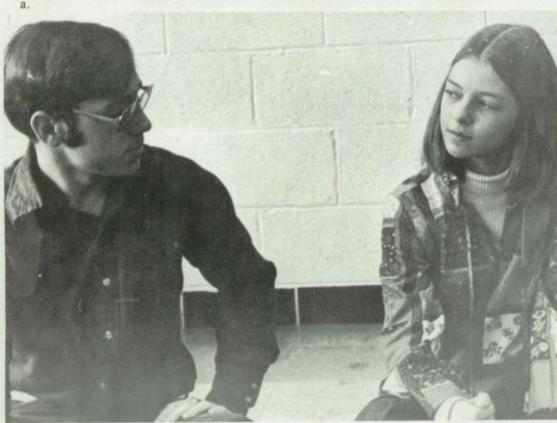

The speech team consists of nearly twenty budding actors, actresses, and public speakers. They are coached by Mrs. Jeanne Jones, who is assisted by Wendy Schapiro.

AFS Promotes Overseas Relations

The purpose of the American Field Service is to promote a better understanding between the nations. One of the main activities of the club is tag day. Its purpose is to raise money to send students abroad and to host students from overseas. Sylvia Gambin is this year's exchange student from Uruguay. Allison McGown, who is in Thailand, and Diana Bough, who is in New Zealand, are both sponsored by the Charleston AFS Chapter. This year's AFS student from CHS is Sue Snyder, who will be in Australia for a year. The club's sponsor is Mrs. Bette Johnson.

Students Transform Boathouse to Teen Center

Less than a year ago the old boathouse southeast of town was seldom used and deteriorating. Now, on Monday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights and Saturday and Sunday afternoons the place is alive and noisy with teens and their activities. The transformation began when John Beusch was elected to city council. Because the city rented the building only rarely, he suggested that they let teenagers use it for a place to get together and entertain themselves. At the organizational meeting approximately sixty students showed up who were interested in refurbishing the Teen Center. Teens meet monthly and plan the activities, purchases and improvements for that month. Now there are three hundred students who have memberships and regularly attend its functions.

Teen Center activities include dances, ice skating parties, a Thanksgiving dinner and movies. Even if nothing is planned for the evening, teens can play pinball, shoot pool, watch television or buy munchies at the snack bar. So if the fox you have been playing chase with all night decides to go home at 9:30, and you have nothing else to do, drop by the Teen Center and see what's going on.

AFS Benefit Provides Gala Evening for All

The AFS Benefit was held on March 17, 1977, in the Grand Ballroom at Eastern Illinois University. Scores of supporters arrived to enjoy a pleasant evening of ceremony and music. The affair opened with a parade of the flags from each country participating in the American Field Service programs. The flagbearers wore native costumes from those same countries. Janice Rundle Druez emceed and gave information on exchange students who attended CHS or who went abroad during their high school careers. Diva Saliba, AFS student from Brazil, expressed her gratitude to the people of Charleston for their kindness. The evening was completed with performances by the CHS concert band and orchestra, and a special high school choir directed by Mrs. Swickard. The fine performances by all the groups proved the saying true-music is an international language.

Students Let Talent Show

Although there was no spring musical last year, talented students gathered to fill the CHS auditorium with music and dramatics once more. The first Variety Show, sponsored by the Student Action for Education Club, featured over fifteen acts ranging from lyric sonatas to spoofs on rock bands. The show, which took place on May 14, 1977, attracted a large, appreciative audience. The students rehearsed for many grueling hours in order to produce the kind of quality performance in which CHS takes great pride.

CHS Welcomes Alumni

Homecoming 1977, which took place October 17-22, was an all-around celebration. The Trojans were riding on an undefeated streak, takin' care of business all the way. The week started with the traditional dress-up days, which included slob day, crazy hat day, and of course, red and gold day. The bonfire was lit Thursday night after the Senior Chili Supper. Trojan Tri-Captains burned effigies of the Mt. Zion captains as loyal fans cheered wildly. As a special feature, the football team delivered their rendition of the Charleston High School fight song for the pleasure of the crowd.

The guest speaker at Friday's pep rally was Everett Warner, coach of the first CHS football team in 1927. Many players of that team were also present at the assembly.

True to form, the Trojans won the golden anniversary Homecoming game 6-0 over Mt. Zion. Queen Sheila Blank and her court were presented at halftime before an overflowing crowd.

The theme of Saturday night's victory dance was "You Light Up My Life." It was held in the gym which was decorated with glowing candles and a spinning mirror ball. The group PEAM provided the music for this occasion which ended a fabulous Homecoming week at CHS.
